BIG STORIES DESERVE TO BE TOLD IN A BIG WAY

Laurita Garza

Great stories of love, pain, betrayal, revenge, friendship, and action have been composed and played for years in the Mexican/Regional Music genre with the legendary Gabbanelli Accordions.

But who, better than Gabbanelli Accordions to celebrate the culture and heritage of this genre, by giving homage to the songs, Norteño Music lovers have sung, smiled, and cried to for decades.

We borrowed three classic songs from the genre and recreated their stories using illustrations placed on the bellows, a part of the accordion, most artists use when personalizing their instruments.

Three classic songs and three great stories that have surpassed the test of time and are continued to be told, sung, and played with the signature "voice" of a Gabbanelli Accordion.

"Laurita Garza" is a tale of betrayal, where Laurita, a school teacher, shoots her lover who was leaving her for another woman.

"A Little Corner in Heaven" a romantic tale of a couple looking for a hidden space in heaven to take their love

And "Two Friends" is a song about two long-time friends who decide to combine their talents in order to commit a train robbery.
